Games for Tomorrow.

2 p. m.—Cliffburns vs. Eastern Eagles.
4:30 p. m.—Defenders vs. Potomacs.

The first shut-out of the season of the Times Juvenile League was administered to the Orients by the Potomacs at Arsenal Park yesterday, when the score stood 20 to 0. Kistner and the Orients completely at his mercy, only three hits being made off his delivery. The support given him was of the light order, the work of the team behind him being cut off, and flies pulled down with great ease.

Dalrymple of the Orients also pitched good ball, but his support was wretched at times. While it is hard to see how the Orients could have won yesterday, with better support of their pitcher they would have held their opponents' score down, and with a little timely hitting secured a shut-out.

TOOK THIRTEEN PLACES.

There was no discount on the work of the Potomacs, and it shows that the team is determined to possess The Times trophy if earnest effort will secure it.

By winning yesterday the Potomacs moved into third place, at the same time moving the Orients down the ladder.

The game this afternoon will be between the Senators and Zephyrs, and as these teams are among the clubs tied for fourth place they will both strive hard for the game. Hand and Lowndes will umpire.

As a change in the schedule is contemplated, only the two games for tomorrow are announced, the first one, at 2 p. m., being between the leaders of the league, the Cliffburns, and the Eastern Eagles.

CLOSE GAME EXPECTED.

As the Eagles have strengthened considerably they will make it very interesting for the Cliffburns, and a close game may be looked for. The leaders will have to play ball all the time to win the contest. Kinslow and Hilton will umpire this game.

The second game tomorrow will bring together the Defenders and Potomacs, when Handman and Meyne will umpire. The second game will start at 4:30 p. m., and an interesting game is expected.

AMONG THE AMATEURS.

The Kids Athletic Club, of West Washington, have organized for the season, and would like to hear from any team in the district whose average age is seventeen years. Regularly organized and uniformed teams preferred. The players are: Clarke, Brown, Berry, Cole, McCoy, Woodward, Wright, Kidrick, Sewell, Finney, Cryer and Jackson. Address challenges to Capt. F. R. Parker, 1613 Thirtieth street northwest.

The Atlantic Stars, formerly the Young Atlantics, have organized for the season. The players are: E. Kelly, C. Keefe, P. McLaws, J. T. Cranston, B. A. Rollins, B. T. Mulloy, A. J. Frederick, Jr., W. Robertson, Jr., John Wright, Jr. They would like to hear from all teams fourteen years and under. They would like to hear from the District Stars. Address all challenges to W. Robertson, 526 C Street southwest.

AMONG THE BOXERS.

Dick Baker, the colored boxer, and Dick O'Brien of Boston have been secured by New York club to box at catch weights twelve rounds the latter part of the month.

Tom Tracy has arrived in Chicago. He has this to say about "Mysterious" Billy Smith: "Smith never spoke to me but once about a match when we were on the other side. Then he was hardly in condition to talk business, and I heard no more from him. Walcott is my chief concern now, but his new manager says he will not allow him to box before any of the Eastern clubs. He says that he will have Walcott meet me before the National Club of London in the fall. I only hope so."

Young Griffo and Billy Ernst will box twelve rounds in Brooklyn on Saturday night.

Tom Sharkey of San Francisco, who got a draw from Joe Choynski some weeks ago, has challenged Dan Creedon to a twenty-round contest for a purse before a "Frisco club."

Charley Mitchell and Steve O'Donnell are giving boxing exhibitions in London.

There seems to be no prospect of a meeting between Jack Everhardt and Charles McKewen. The latter has expressed his willingness to meet any lightweight in the world—McAuliffe or Kid Lavigne preferred.

All the New York papers agree that "Kid" McCoy showed far from championship form in his bout with Dick Moore, a third-rater, Saturday night.

Martin Flaherty's backers on Monday posted the $375 bond money for the match with Champion George Dixon at the Suffolk Athletic Club, Boston, on June 16.

"Scoldy Bill" Quinn has consented to meet Walcott again before the Suffolk club, Boston, some time in July, probably the 3d.

Charlie White says that a fast boxer who can fight in close and avoid Joe Walcott's left hand will defeat the negro water-weight.

Anson has released McBride and Reilly. Decker will cover left field regularly.

Archie Latham has gone from the National League, probably forever, and his name is already as seldom spoken as that of Burdette. He has been out of the game since he was hit by Fred Dunlap. Yet in the passing of "the dude" there goes one of the strangest and most original characters of baseball, and one of the greatest drawing cards ever in the game. Archie Latham, who is now a man well on in middle age, has ever held a position all by himself as the most absurd comedian and the most spontaneous humorist ever seen on a ball field. No other player ever equaled him as an entertainer. Mike Kelly equaled him as a humorist, but Mike's sallies were not as loud as Archie's, and only the people right behind him could realize their pur-

BASEBALL NOTES.

J. Earl Wagner soon tired chewing the rag in the press box yesterday, and just as soon as he went down the steps the home team began to score.

President Young was very anxious about the Cleveland-Baltimore game yesterday.

McDermott is a good, hard-working pitcher.

Reader—1. The Times does not know why Abbey is kept out of right field. 2. Yes, 3. No. 4. Lush has made one hit in the last five games.

Silver King was just as fine as gold.

The consistent rooster was out yesterday, and his lungs were as lusty as ever.

The sun did not shine a moment during the entire game yesterday afternoon.

Rogers is an opportunist. His singles in the last few games were very much needed.

Maul will probably pitch today.

McCauley will not be able to play before the Fourth of July.

Emmie has a good voice, but he frequently makes bad use of it.

It is simply a disgrace to President Young, who has been so good to the league, that Keefe and Weidman are acting as umpires. Pittsburgh Dispatch. Especially Keefe.

Billy Klingman is playing a great third base. The Louisville fans still want, but now for shortstop. The Pirates thought they got the best of the deal when Klingman was traded for Boyle and Wright. Some Louisville people also thought this. If Billy keeps up his present good work he will lead the third basemen of the League this year.—Louisville Times.

The Cincinnati Reds are in a bad way for pitchers, owing to their particularly bad luck in losing the services of Rhines and in the hitting of Dwyer by a pitched ball. Manager Ewing has sent for Pitcher Gast, an old-timer, and Bert Lusk, recently released by Philadelphia, will probably be given a trial.

George Haddock has given up baseball and gone into the real estate business at Dorchester.

Is it possible that Breitenstein is going the way of all left-handed pitchers? He has been batted very hard of late.

Anson says that he has no favorite pitcher this season. So even your uncle has discovered that they are all long shots.

The Louisville have sent Holmes home till he fully recovers from his lame ankle. He was injured more than he thought he was, and will probably not rejoin the team till its return home.

The Boston players to a man declare as untrue the paragraph published in a local paper to the effect that Tenney is more popular with the public than with the Boston club. They say it is doing Tenney an injustice, and that he, too, wants an emphatic contradiction of the statement.

Manager Mack is surely having his troubles. When a pitcher is in form then the field goes up in the air.

The Boston club is securing good patronage, but critics are harshly talking of the parsimony of the management in posting a fee to expend a little money in releasing the scores of other games upon a blackboard for the benefit of patrons. This is a method of economy that had not been conceived by the Cleveland club as yet.

Kinslow is not yet in condition to catch. He says his arm is hardly strong enough to stand the strain.

With Mercer, Maul, King and German, the Senators have a pitching staff that will hold the opposition beneath the double number limit as regards hits. With some big support at the bat and in the field this pitching staff would win many a game.—Baltimore American.

Cleveland is again in the lead.

Archie Latham has gone from the National League, probably forever, and his name is already as seldom spoken as that of Burdette. He has been out of the game since he was hit by Fred Dunlap. Yet in the passing of "the dude" there goes one of the strangest and most original characters of baseball, and one of the greatest drawing cards ever in the game. Archie Latham, who is now a man well on in middle age, has ever held a position all by himself as the most absurd comedian and the most spontaneous humorist ever seen on a ball field. port. Nearly everybody at a game could see Archie, and the man actually had such genius, such loquacious versatility that he was a clever actor upon the boards, and a first-class force comedian. With Latham, two, went the last of the St. Louis Browns of the 1885 heroic days. Fuller, Boyle, Foutz and Silvestri are now the survivors of the Browns of 1888. Tip O'Neil and Robinson are dead. Comiskey is a minor league manager. Chamberlain has been cast aside as a back number. Devlin is pitching in some little Eastern league club. Nat Hamilton is at home in Chicago. Gleason is a fireman in St. Louis. Bushong is pulling teeth. Carstairs is an umpire. Foutz has reached more of an eminence than any of his colleagues, being now the manager and director of the Brooklyn, although he plays no more.

Breitenstein was the only League pitcher knocked out of the box yesterday.

The season Detroit went the championship Weidman pitched twenty of the games.

Manager McGinnis has fanned out Bill Hassamer to the Newark club of the Atlantic League.

The Louisville have sent Holmes home till he fully recovers from his lame ankle. He will not rejoin the team till its return home.

From all accounts the Pittsburghs have been playing in hard luck ever since they came East. They claim they were crushed out of two games in Baltimore through incompetent umpiring.

Dun my Hoy is a curious specimen. He plays faster ball in the early spring, when the other players are not keyed up to condition, and falls back when the season is at its height. This freakishness may be attributed to his habit of constant training during the winter, which has the effect of stalling an athlete.

Baltimore yesterday lost the first game since returning from the West.

Con Bailey will join Chicago at Washington.

Roger Connor received a letter from Chris Von der Abe yesterday saying that that story that Roger would be dropped from the management in favor of Larry O'Leary is maliciously true. Chris stated further that he was perfectly satisfied with Roger's management, and would make no change as long as the big first baseman wanted the job.

Boxers Will Be Numerous.
New York, June 5.—President Harry McMillan, of the A. A. U. of the United States, was in New York this afternoon, and held a consultation with James E. Sullivan, of the boxing and wrestling championship committee. He stated great interest was being taken in Philadelphia in the championships, and that a team of Philadelphia boxers and wrestlers would compete. This will add great interest to the tournament, as the Philadelphia boys have always made a good showing in the championships. Besides Philadelphia, Pittsburgh has promised President McMillan to send several boxers and wrestlers, and President Hall, of the New England Association, has also promised to enter a team from Boston. The Pastime A. C., St. Bartholomew A. C., and the Brooklyn A. C. have likewise promised to enter teams to compete for the championship honors. Entries will not close until June 8.

Burge Wants Another Fight.
London, June 5.—Dick Burge is not satisfied with the defeat inflicted on him last Monday at the National Sporting Club by Kid Lavigne, the American light-weight. He has issued a challenge to Lavigne for another fight in November for £1,000. He proposes that they shall fight at ten-stone, give or take two pounds.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS.

The spring meeting of the Columbus Driving Association to have been held next week has been declared off on account of a lack of entries. There are 160 horses in training on the track, but only a few of them are ready to start. A full meeting will probably be given after the grand circuit races.

Manager Tom O'Rourke has sued Judge Ingraham for $10,000 damages for stopping the Maher and Slavin contest.

President Maffitt and Secretary Aull of the St. Louis Fair Association are supervising the reconstruction of the roof of the grandstand, which the recent cyclone carried off. It will be completed tomorrow in time for the celebrated club members' handicap race, the $6,000 stake event, in which some of the cream runners of the American thoroughbreds are entered.

Sam Chase, ex-champion of the West at tennis, has announced that he will play the game no more for tournament honors.

Fred Stewart of Baltimore defeated Joseph Nelson of Philadelphia at pool Wednesday night, making 150 balls to 144. Stewart has been out of the game since he was hit by a ball in the head, and played in two halves at Stewart's positions, Baltimore.

The Palo Alto horses will not come East this season. They will only be raced on the Western track.

The Western plunger are meeting with little success on Eastern tracks this season and are talking of going home.

The Yale University crew and the Amsterdam Rowing Club are the only foreign entries in the race for the grand challenge cup in the Henley regatta, which will take place next month.

INTERCITY CYCLE RACES

Arranging for Washington and Baltimore Wheelmen to Meet.

THREE MEN FROM EACH CITY

Chief Consul Conway W. Sams of Baltimore and W. S. McKean of the Local Track, Talk Over Details—Interesting Gossip for Riders of the Silent Steed.

Chief Consul Conway W. Sams of Baltimore was in Washington yesterday evening for the purpose of arranging the details for a series of inter-city bicycle races between a team of three men from Baltimore and three from Washington, the events to be decided by points, and to take place alternately on the Park cycle track, of that city, and the Washington track. Mr. Sams met W. S. McKean, secretary of the Washington track, and Chief Consul W. T. Robertson of the District of Columbia.

Mr. Sams had Baltimore's proposition ready, but the officials of Washington were in no position to talk business, as the track officials and Chief Consul Robertson failed to reach agreement. Mr. Sams explained to the Washington contingent the ideas of Baltimore cyclists as to the manner in which the races should be run, and the terms which should be given. He explained that his statement was only a suggestion, and he wished to hear similar suggestions from the Washington side as a basis for a mutual agreement.

The Washington cyclists seemed to understand Mr. Sams' position, but could not negotiate until the morning, arriving at an agreement among themselves. They said they hoped to accomplish this agreement during the week and notify the Baltimore end of the arrangement by Monday evening. The Maryland division is exceedingly desirous for the events and stand ready to go to work.

The plan of the Maryland officials was to select the best three amateurs from each city for a series of five races for a cup and individual prizes, the event to be decided upon the total number of points scored at the end of the season.

When this affair was first broached to the Washington people they accepted the suggestion with alacrity, and declared themselves ready for the fray. Since then they seemed to have had some difficulty in getting together on a plan.

The Irvington-Milburn road race officials and race committee of the Metropolitan Association of Cycling Clubs will now be compelled to near Haddfield, the disqualified winner, side of the story, as resolutions to that effect have been passed by the Virginia Club, Mockridge, who claims to have proved that he finished seventh in the contest, will also have a hearing. The scorers overlooked him altogether.

Linn Enks was riding along the highway on his bicycle near Raytown, Mo. He was happy and care-free, and was riding on his shoulders. He could have been a head of care above those pneumatic tires. Somewhere near the city limits Linn rode upon a rattlesnake. The reptile was stretched across the road like a dead limb, and the rider thought it would be good fun to ride over his snake's head and end his condition of the philosophical service. He aimed the wheel directly at the snake's eyes and struck him fairly.

There was a report and a hiss, and the air went out of the front tire as it does out of a deflated politician's boom. The fangs of the snake had bored through the rubber cleanly. Then Linn got off and found the job of killing the snake and mending the puncture in his tire. This incident is cited merely to show the charm of wheeling in a delirious tremors country.—New York Telegram.

A useful article which has recently been introduced is a combination tool-bag and tire pump. It is made of metal, is circular in form, and large enough to hold all ordinary tools required. When in use as a pump a rubber stem is screwed into one end. The tools need not be disturbed when pumping a tire. Its chief value lies in the fact that it is very powerful, having about twenty times the capacity of the ordinary hand-pump. Its weight, with tools, is about fourteen ounces.

An apparently practicable speed indicator has just been made, based on the principle of centrifugal force. A glass tube, one-half inch in diameter and three and one-quarter inches long, is filled to two-thirds of its capacity with a fluid not affected by changes in temperature. On each end is a metal cap containing ball bearings and set in a metal frame, one rod of which extends the length of the tube and parallel to it. On this rod is a scale. The instrument is attached to the lower part of the front fork in the same manner as a cyclometer. A rubber-covered spring finger, fastened to the spokes of the front wheel, rubs against the lower metal cap of the indicator, imparting a rotary motion to the tube, and thereby causing an air spout to form in the liquid. The movement of this air spout, which is, of course, governed by the speed of the rotary motion along the scale, indicates the speed of the bicycle. The divisions on the scale are 5, 4, 3, 2, 1, 2, 2 and 1.45, the number of minutes necessary to travel a mile. It is said that tests have proved the indicator to be absolutely correct.

The Evening Telegram of New York has arranged a monster cycle ride, to take place tomorrow afternoon in that city. A series of prizes are offered to the clubs and individuals participating.

Ex-Mayor Grant of New York has taken to the wheel in preference to horseback riding. The ex-mayor has joined the League of American Wheelmen. Mr. Grant, formerly Miss Murphy of Troy, is also a clever cyclist.

English Tennis Player Beaten.
Ridgewood, N. J., June 5.—J. P. Paret, the Southern tennis champion, added another victory to his credit in the Ridgewood tennis tournament this afternoon by defeating W. M. Cranston, the English crack, two sets to one. Cranston has recently come to this country from the Queen's Tennis Club, England. He expects to compete in all the prominent American tournaments, and will play at the national championship at Newport in August. Cranston holds quite a record on the other side, and is ranked only a little below Pim, who played in this country last year. At present, however, he is badly out of form, and Paret found him a comparatively easy victim. The Englishman played wildly through the greater part of the match.

May Be Corbett's Sparring Partner.
San Francisco, June 5.—Champion James J. Corbett, who is in this city, made a proposition yesterday to Tom Sharkey, the sailor-pugilist, who recently stood up for eight rounds before Choyinski and defeated Jim Williams of Salt Lake at Wednesday night's boxing tournament, to become his boxing partner after leaving the city. Sharkey will probably accept. He has expressed a willingness to meet any heavyweight in the country, barring Corbett, preferring Dan Creedon.
